

TOP 3D STREET ART PHOTOS

Projection called anamorphosis to create the illusion of three dimensions when viewed from the correct angle, many artists create finest 3D pavement illusions.

Edgar Müller

At the cutting edge of 3D pavement art is german artist Edgar Muller. His creations transform everyday locations into fantastical scenes: sharks erupting from pavements, chasms bisecting suburban, streets and rivers cascading through towns.

Kurt Wenner

An architect, artist and former NASA illustrator, american artist Kurt Wenner's amazingly detailed street artworks conjure images of both Baroque religious murals and a Salvador Daliesque surrealism.

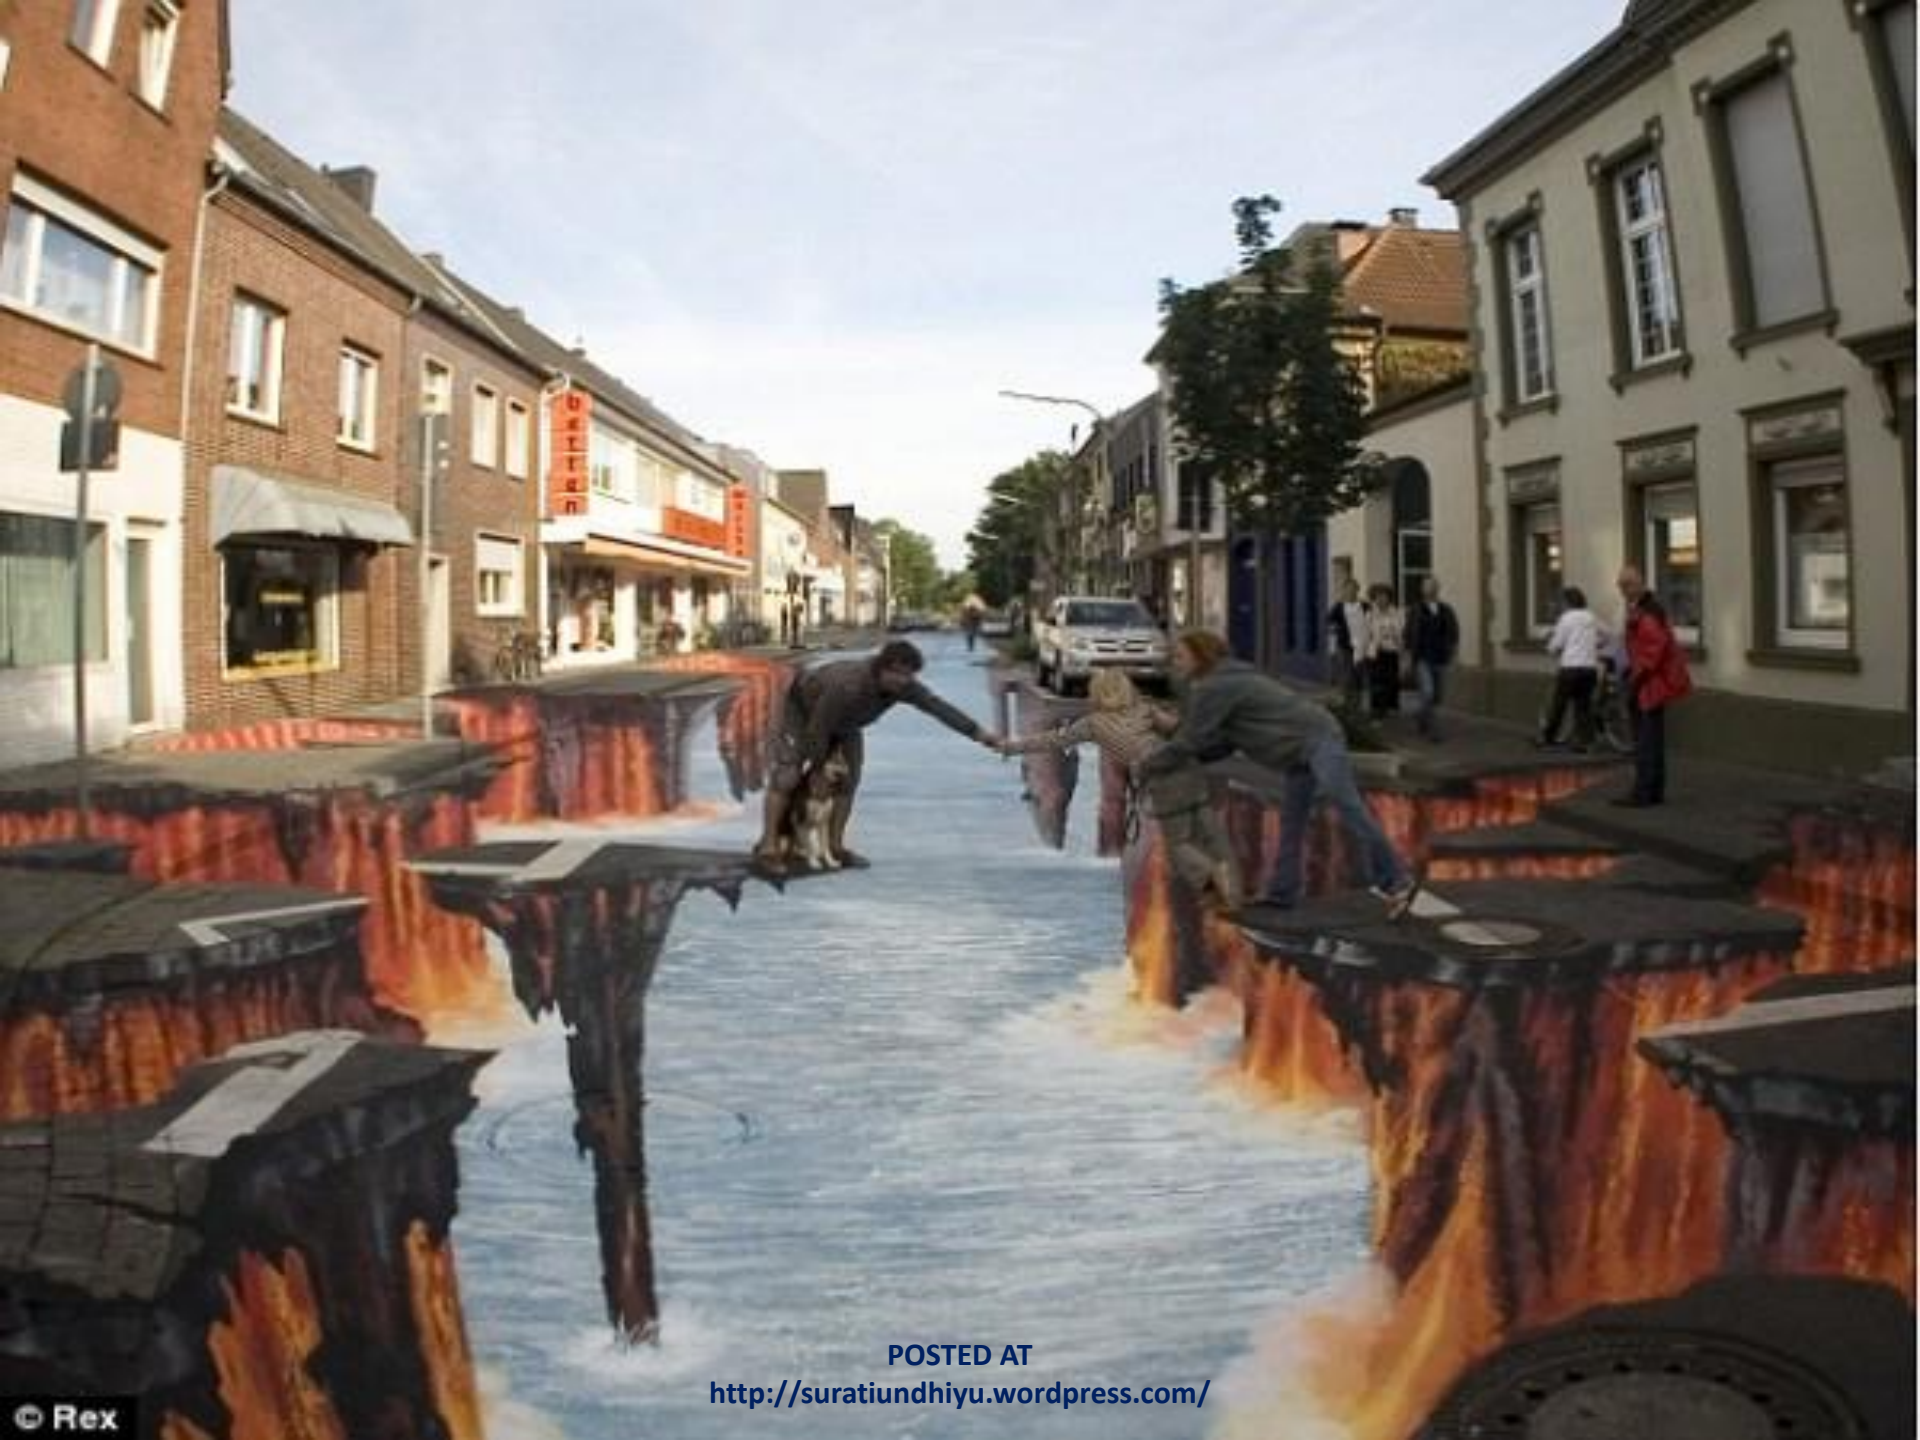

Manfred Stader

Manfred Stader began street painting during his art studies at the famous Städelschule Artschool in Frankfurt, at the beginning of the 1980s and in 1985 he already became one of the few master street painters. Since then, he has been creating some of the best works for street painting competitions and advertising campaigns.
